Remember that any work in the system should only follow prior communication and internal approval of details outside the system. Only then proceed with the entry.

Up until now, you have been triggering requests for new hires through Position Management and using "chairs" to do so. However, it often happened that the approval workflow took a long time because many participants were involved.

With the launch of the application, Position Management will be deprecated, we will no longer use chairs, but _you will still have a view of the organizational structure._
